Villa epitomises all of the essential stylistic and historical characteristics of the villas around Brenta – a seventeenth century villa in a green and tranquil meander of the river which contrasts its rich façade, stone balcony and gable, as stated by Sansovino, facing the waterway to show-off to those passing in the boats, the true opulence of the villa, the park, the entrance and the boathouse which served as the resting place for boats, carriages and country tools. Villa is the ideal place to celebrate your special day in an aristocratic setting, in a world of elegance and intimacy, close to the enchanting Venice Riviera and the Palladian Villas that adorn its waters. The two large living rooms passing through the house, the traditional kitchen and refined cuisine of our restaurant, the attentive and personal service and the romantic position between the green countryside and the historic river of the Venice Riviera, allow you to experience to the full the emotion of your special day and begin in the best way possible this new chapter in your lives.
